SPK's October Distribution

Program Usahawan SPK - Getting Back On Their Feet

Through October and November, SPK continued supporting our participants as they worked to rebuild their livelihoods. With the capital provided, they purchased essential items such as freezers, blenders, raw ingredients, packaging bottles, cooking gas and distribution tools. These were the foundations they needed to start producing and selling again.

Mohammad Fauzan went through a very difficult period earlier this year. Both he and his young son suffered from hand, foot and mouth disease, and their sores were so severe that daily life became a struggle. SPK stepped in with treatment and supplies to help them heal.

Today, with the support and tools provided by the programme, Mohammad Fauzan and his wife has begun producing and selling Ibu Sambal to support his family. It is a meaningful step forward after months of hardship.

Aini Fitri has relied on food aid to get through tough months. She hopes to become independent and provide for her family with her own effort.

With SPK's assistance, she is now growing her small frozen food business, preparing items such as roti jala, lepat pisang, lepat ubi, nona manis, karipap kentang, apam aiskrim, roti sardine and roti tuna. Each sale brings her closer to financial stability and confidence.
